Pets Behaving Badly

'Now Fin was a particularly graceful goldfish, with a long flowing tail and fins. He lived in a very large fish tank, right next to the window that looked into the back garden. One afternoon after school, Tim noticed him hurtling through the water, only to hit his nose on the glass at the opposite end of the fish tank. Tiny bubbles whooshed out from under his tail.'

Fin's problem became a source of mystery to his owners, Tim and Kate. Write a story about one of the following pets with a strange habit. Decide on how your story will end with the reason for their habit clearly explained.

- A burping cat
- A spitting bunny rabbit
- A vomiting budgie
- A sneezing dog
